MISSION: Provide an organized framework that empowers and encourages volunteers to give their time, skills, and support in seeking life-changing solutions for children who live in an educationally, disadvantaged environment.
Vision of the Tutor/Mentor Connection (T/MC)

One day, there will be a comprehensive, mentor-rich, support system in place, so that every child born in poverty in one year is starting a job/career 25 years later.

The Tutor/Mentor Connection (T/MC) (also known as Cabrini Connections) is a grassroots non-profit organization concerned about the large number of American children who fail to obtain the basic skills and experience that will be necessary to compete for employment in the global economy of the 21st Century.

The T/MC believes that after-school tutoring, mentoring and school-to-work programs like its own can make a significant difference in whether a young person finishes high school and enters the work force or drops out and becomes part of the next generation on welfare.

For many years, this organization has helped create school-to-work opportunities for inner-city children by recruiting volunteers to contribute time and energy to provide quality after-school tutoring and mentoring to teens living in the Cabrini-Green area of Chicago.

The Need for Volunteer-Based Tutor/Mentor Programs

Young people with the most severe unmet needs often live in very poor and high-risk neighborhoods with few opportunities to get the critical experiences needed for positive development. They often experience repeated racial and ethnic discrimination. Such youth have a substantial amount of free, unsupervised time during their non-school hours. (from National Academy Press, Community programs to Promote Youth Development (2001).

In the next few pages you’ll meet the students and volunteers who spend time each week throughout the school year at Cabrini Connections:
Founded in 1992, but with history dating back to 1965

In 1992 a small group of volunteers created Cabrini Connections. Its primary purpose was to provide one-on-one tutoring/mentoring to teens living in the Cabrini Green area of Chicago.

However, the group had a larger vision. The founders of Cabrini Connections realized that comprehensive tutor/mentor programs were needed in many neighborhoods of Chicago, not just Cabrini Green. They recognized a leadership void and decided to split their time, talent and resources to filling this void. Over the past 16 years their vision has become the Tutor/Mentor Connection (T/MC).

While Cabrini Connections and the T/MC will be entering their 17th year in 2009, the roots of this organization extend back to 1965 when a small group of employees from the Montgomery Ward Corporate headquarters in Chicago began to go to the 412 Building in Cabrini Green to tutor elementary school children.

Dan Bassill, founder of Cabrini Connections, T/MC, joined Montgomery Ward as an advertising copywriter in 1973, and became a tutor that fall. In 1975 Dan became the leader of the volunteer program. Between then and 1990 he held two jobs of growing responsibility. One as an advertising manager with Wards. One as the leader of a volunteer program that had 300 pairs of youth and adults involved by 1990.

Part of Dan’s success was that in 1976 he began inviting other tutor/mentor programs to gather and share ideas. This networking of leaders is what enabled Dan to build the Wards program into a nationally-recognized model. It also led to the creation of the Tutor/Mentor Connection. Many of the founders and current leaders of Cabrini Connections, and the T/MC first became involved in tutoring in the mid 1980’s when they joined Dan and the program at Wards.

Thus, as we celebrate the beginning of our 17th year, we also celebrate 44 years of history. We hope you will embrace our vision and continue to add your own time, talent and dollars to helping us succeed.
Cabrini Connections: Creating a Pipeline to Careers

Research shows that getting older youth to participate in non-school programs is more difficult than attracting younger youth, yet 56% of teens who have been part of Cabrini Connections since 1993 have been in our one-on-one program for two or more years and 34% (188 teens) for three to seven consecutive years!

After 16 years, we now have a pipeline of youth ranging from entry-level 7th graders to 2003 and 2008 college graduates — who were in 7th and 8th grade when they first joined Cabrini Connections in 1993.

College & Career Readiness Activities

For the past ten years Cabrini Connections teens and graduate students from Edgewood College in Madison, WI have connected each July in a 3-day workshop at Cabrini Connections. View this video about the Edgewood Experience http://tinyurl.com/edgewood-video

During 2008-09 a group of volunteers re-decorated one section of the tutoring center and created a COLLEGE ZONE which is staffed each week during tutoring sessions with a volunteer who coaches teens and volunteers about college choices. In 2008-09 there were also five college visits to places like DePaul, Westwood College, IIT, etc.

2008-09 Participation

Of the 72 teens on the 2008-2009 program roster* in October 2008...

29 Cabrini Connections students (40.3%) have been with the program for 3 to 7 consecutive years. The program has 11 active students who have been with us for 5 to 7 years. 5 seniors graduated from high school in June 2009.

16 volunteer tutors/mentors have been with Cabrini Connections for 4 to 6 years. 15 volunteers, including members of the Board and Leadership Council, have been part of Cabrini Connections for between 6 and 35 consecutive years. A much larger number of volunteers are still connected to us via our email newsletters and web site communications.

A growing number of former volunteers and students are connected to Cabrini Connections via LinkedIn.com and Facebook.com. Through these forums we not only can continue to offer mentoring, but we can learn more of the long-term impact of Cabrini Connections upon our members.

* Active roster includes teens and volunteers attending weekly sessions during current school year. This represents less than 15% of students who have participated since 1993, but are not yet at age 25, or anchored in jobs and careers. Using the Internet we aim to continue to help all of the youth and volunteers who have ever been part of Cabrini Connections stay connected to each other and to job and career opportunities.
Arts, Video and Writing Activities

Since its founding in 1993 Cabrini Connections has incorporated arts, writing, performance, video and technology in its learning. We believe that these teach critical thinking, problem solving and communications skills that empower youth to succeed in the classroom and in work.

Throughout the year, smaller groups of teens and additional volunteers meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening group activities that focus on arts, video, writing and leadership. These groups are organized and led by dedicated volunteers from Chicago’s business and professional community.

While these photos give a sampling of the types of activities available beyond the one-on-one tutoring/mentoring, we encourage you to browse our web sites to see photos and videos that illustrate the interaction between teens and volunteers.

April 2009 Arts and Video Festival

This year's arts & video festival showcased work done throughout the year by students who meet each Monday evening in the art club. It also presented the final version of a documentary video that students and volunteers have been working on for almost four years! Shown below, and in the background of this group photo, are murals created in 2008 and 2009.

Cabrini Green, This is What I Know, video was the result of work done by teens and volunteers from 2005 to 2009.
Student Leadership

During the 2008-09 school year a Student Leadership Council was created. Students nominated candidates, then held elections. During the first meeting, the group set two goals:

The first is to increase student involvement in Cabrini Connections’ programming and in the planning and execution of said programming. The second goal is that they want to really use the council to develop their own leadership skills.

You can read more about the Youth Leadership Council at http://chrispip.blogspot.com/2008/12/youth-leadership-council-1st-meeting.html

One major project that the group took on was to create a video documentary telling the history of Cabrini Connections. This was shown at the year end dinner in June 2009 and is now available at http://www.cabriniconnections.net

HSBC Computer Technology Center

While each youth is matched in one-on-one tutoring/mentoring, the program’s strategy is to expand the experience base and aspirations of its members and to create habits of using the Internet for learning, collaboration, and networking. We believe that one of the most important benefits of Cabrini Connections is that it connects youth living in areas of high poverty with adults who hold jobs in a wider variety of fields than do the adults living in poverty neighborhoods.

Thus, we are creating an on-line social network (see http://my.mentorforme.org) to teach our youth and adults to gather and share information on-line, and to build habits that keep them connected to each other, and to Cabrini Connections, in the years after high school. This on-line community of students and adults will continue to open doors to jobs and career opportunities for many years to come. Funds from the HSBC North America grant enable us to create e-learning activities and provide hands on support that encourages youth and volunteers to become confident of using the internet for these purposes.

These funds also provide the critically important tech support needed to keep our technology working all the time. And, they are used to support the web site development and maintenance that is needed to draw volunteers, youth and others to our web sites on a regular basis. During fall 2008, they also enabled us to replace a 10-year old server hosting our technology and intranet, with a brand new system!
Every week throughout the school year, Cabrini Connections links more than 80 business volunteers with 70-80 Cabrini-Green teens and a growing number of alumni, in one-on-one mentoring and creative group learning activities.

While many people feel that the Cabrini-Green neighborhood no longer has low-income families, there are really more than 600 families still in this area. Cabrini Connections ended the 2008-09 school year with 67 students, ranging from 7th grade to 12th grade, and has more than 450 alumni who have been part of the program for 1 to 7 years. Most are still not yet 25 and anchored in jobs and careers.

Cabrini Connections’ volunteers represent all age groups, race groups, and a diversity of business backgrounds. Many come from advertising, communications and technology backgrounds, which enhances our ability to offer programs that help youth learn technology and build their own personal communications skills.

Tutor/Mentor Connection (T/MC) fills leadership void that exists in most cities.

MISSION: Gather and organize all that is known about successful after-school tutor/mentor programs and share that knowledge to expand the availability and enhance the effectiveness of these services throughout Chicago.

In 1992 when Dantrell Davis was shot and killed in Chicago, the headlines of the Chicago SunTimes read, “7-year Old’s Death at Cabrini Requires Action.” Dennis Britton, Editor of the SunTimes, wrote, “This isn’t something you can let the other guy be indignant over. It’s past time for you to take responsibility for solving the problems of Chicago….Please don’t let this be someone else’s problem. It’s yours. It’s mine. Let’s retake our city and begin working to solve the horribly destructive problems of poverty, hopelessness and racism."

When this was written the T/MC did not exist and the city did not have a master database of non-school tutor/mentor programs. In the years since then, that has changed, thanks to the efforts of Cabrini Connections and the Tutor/Mentor Connection.

T/MC actions draw dollars, volunteers, and training to tutor/mentor program in every part of the city and suburbs of Chicago.

This map shows transit routes that bring potential volunteers and donors through poverty neighborhoods, and past tutor/mentor programs, as the come and go to work. This is an example of maps created by the T/MC, that can be used to support involvement decisions of businesses, churches, volunteers at tutor/mentor programs in all parts of the city and suburbs. See Program Locator at http://www.tutormentorprogramlocator.net.

The T/MC mission is accomplished through a four-part strategy.

- 1. Increase knowledge of tutor/mentor programs, where they are needed, what it takes to help them succeed and what individuals, business, faith groups, universities, etc. can do to help.

- 2. Increase frequency of stories about tutoring/mentoring in order to build awareness among the general public for the tutor/mentor movement, individual organizations and the need for such programs.

- 3. Help people understand and use the information on the web sites, via conferences, blogs, on-line forums, one-on-one mentoring of volunteers, leaders and organizers, etc.,

- 4. Increase the flow of critically needed resources (dollars, volunteers, training, ideas, business partners, technology, and media attention) directly to programs in every poverty area of Chicago.
The Tutor/Mentor Connection, is a small organization with a big vision. We lead an innovative strategy that works on three levels:

- we mentor youth and volunteers at a Chicago program, called Cabrini Connections, that serves Cabrini-Green area teens;
- we mentor hundreds of organizations in Chicago and around the country that provide tutoring/mentoring services to thousands of inner-city and at-risk youth;
- we mentor business, philanthropy, media, and other institutions to help them be more strategically involved in using their volunteers, dollars, jobs and technology in PULLING kids from poverty to careers.

Each year the T/MC publishes an email Tutor/Mentor Report Newsletter, that reaches more than 4,000 stakeholders per month. The T/MC also participates in a variety of email forums that connect us with thousands of additional people and social benefit organizations each month. These include: Mentor Exchange, Youth Mentoring (researchers) ListServe, Learning to Finish Wiki of Pew Partnership for Civic Change. www.socialedge.org, http://www.nonprofitcongress.org, http://www.womenoncall.org, and numerous others.

Leadership Team 2009
Tutor/Mentor Connection, Cabrini Connections

We are a volunteer-based non-profit corporation. Our aim is to recruit volunteers from the business and professional community. As these volunteers bond with the youth in our tutor/mentor programs, and learn more about the challenges that inner city poverty places upon the ability of youth to succeed in school, and move to careers, our goal is to turn them into leaders and advocates who recruit strategic support from their industry, university, faith network and social network, for Cabrini Connections, and all other Volunteer-Based Tutor/Mentor Programs in the Chicago region.

We have four tiers of volunteers:
- Those involved as tutors/mentors and activities of Cabrini Connections, including youth, parents and alumni - http://www.cabriniconnections.net
- Those involved with the Tutor/Mentor Connection, which includes all of the people who volunteer as speakers in the May and November Conferences http://www.tutormentorconnection.org
- An Advisory Council composed of business and professional leaders
- A governing Board of Directors that actively support the mission and financial goals of the organization

Interactive Map now on-line
Thanks to a $50,000 gift received in November 2007, the T/MC has rebuilt its map library, launched a new interactive map in March 2009. With this service, anyone can create their own map views of an area of the city or suburbs where tutor/mentor programs operate, or are needed.
Tutor/Mentor Connection services in the past year.

One of the major goals of the Tutor/Mentor Connection is to increase the resources available to volunteer-based tutor/mentor programs in Chicago.

In November 2006 the Chicago Sun Times donated $2 million to the Abraham Lincoln Marovitz Lawyers Lend A Hand to Youth Program (LLAH) of the Chicago Bar Association. In December 2007 this resulted in $240,000 in grants being awarded to 31 different programs, including a $30,000 grant to the Tutor/Mentor Connection. In December 2008 another $217,000 was awarded. To demonstrate the impact, the total grant pool in 2006 was $30,000. The Lend A Hand partnership with the T/MC has been growing since 1994 when LLAH made a single grant of $2,000 to one Chicago tutor/mentor program. Learn more at http://www.lawyerslendahand.net

A second major goal is to maintain information about Chicago area volunteer-based tutor/mentor programs.

The growth of the Lend A Hand is made possible because the Tutor/Mentor Connection continues to maintain a master database of Chicago Tutor/Mentor programs. This information is shared via an on-line Program Locator found at http://www.tutormentorprogramlocator.net

Major enhancements to T/MC service made in 2008.

1) Tutor/Mentor Institute web site rebuilt. At http://www.tutormentorexchange.net you can now find a wide variety of ideas created by Dan Bassill and the Tutor/Mentor Connection, which we share with others to help tutor/mentor programs grow in more places. The new web site was launched in late November 2008.

2) An interactive zip code map now enables a volunteer or donor to click on a section of the map of Chicago, to get a list of programs for that area, which are shown on a Google Map interface. The user can search by type of program, age group served, and zip code to narrow their search. By utilizing this feature programs can build partnerships with other programs, and can identify businesses, churches, hospitals and others in the same area who should be working together to support the growth of tutor/mentor programs in the same neighborhood.

3) T/MC Organizational History and Tracking System (OHATS) completely rebuilt at http://www.vattsystems.com/ohats/Home.aspx OHATS enables visitors to understand the actions of T/MC leading to it's stated goals. Contact the T/MC for an OHATS tour.

The Tutor/Mentor Connection continues to try to draw volunteers and donors to different tutor/mentor programs in the city, by using our own blogs and newsletters to tell the story of these programs. In addition to maintaining the database of Chicago tutor/mentor programs, and organizing the May and November leadership conferences, Nicole White has been visiting different programs, and writing profiles on her blog. Twenty-nine articles can be found at this link: http://nicolecabrini.blogspot.com/search/label/Other%20tutoring%20and%20mentoring%20programs

Animated Strategy Map

The T/MC has hosted interns from IIT, University of Michigan and Indiana University, who have worked on projects that help us provide visual guides to the information on our web sites. This strategy map was worked on by two teams of interns, in January and May 2009. It can be found at http://www.tutormentorexchange.net

Gunwoong Go and Sung Joong Kim, from IIT, shown with Toni Pufien of CC, T/MC. Met interns and see their work at http://tutormentorconnection.ning.com
Each May and November since 1994 the T/MC has invited leaders of tutor/mentor programs and other organizations listed in the T/MC resource library at http://www.tutormentorconnection.net to gather for two days of networking and information sharing. The conferences are intended to stimulate the flow of ideas between programs, but are also intended to help us attract public attention, and increase the flow of dollars and volunteers to tutor/mentor programs throughout the Chicago region. On this page are images from the November 2008 and May 2009 conferences which were held at the Northwestern University School of Law and at the Chicago Field Museum. Visit http://www.tutormentorconference.org to see more pictures.

This map shows poverty areas where tutor/mentor programs are most needed. The red dots are participants in the November 2008 conference. Money raised by CC, T/MC helps make these networking conferences possible.

Financials - Overview

These charts illustrate how revenue is split between our site based Cabrini Connections program and the work of the Tutor/Mentor Connection. Rent, insurance and utilities are almost 30% of total expenses.

All funding comes from private sources, enabling the organization to be more flexible and innovative in its activities. The only public funds are a contract from the City of Chicago to provide mentoring services.
